Llanwddyn Community Council Chairman's report 2020.

First of all I would like to thank you all for your continued support to the community.

Over the last year we have had a few issues with the toilets but have been able to keep them open for another year (apart from the last few months due to covid).

The community council have taken part in the lake Vyrnwy project trying our best to put the views of the community over, a lot of time has been dedicated to this especially by the vice chair. There is still a long way to go and some difficult conversations still need to be had.

As part of the Hafren Dyfrdwy works, the council have been leasing with them and the other partners. Helping to express the concerns of the community.

The last 4 months have been a trying time for all in the community and I would like to express my sympathy with anyone affected by covid 19. The council were unable to meet at first but new forms of communication (well new to most of us) has enabled us to once again continue to hold meetings. During this period the community toilets had to close following government guide lines, but as of this week (13.7.2020) we have been able to reopen them with some small changes.

There was a leak which has now been fixed.

Once again thank you for your support.
